Fitness is my business

I RECOMMEND BULLWORKER®
BECAUSE IT'S FAST, IT'S EASY AND IT REALLY WORKS!

Aside from keeping many of the stars you see in the movies and on television in top shape, Mike Fretault, at 40, is still one of the most sought-after stunt men in the business.

Most men know they're not getting enough exercise to keep their bodies in shape.

Twenty years as a fitness coach has taught me one important fact: most men will not stick with a training program long enough for it to do them any good, unless the training is fast, easy and shows results right away.

Bullworker gets a top score on all three counts:
—it's fast: each exercise takes only 7 seconds and the complete workout can be done in about five minutes

—it's easy: any man between 15 and 65 in good general health can perform the full program without getting tired

—you see your results right from the very first day on the built-in Power-meter gauge. After two to three weeks of regular training, most men can expect to measure an extra inch or two of muscle on their shoulders, chest and biceps—and an inch or two less flab around the middle.

And that's just the start: there are specialized exercises for building-up or trimming-down any part of your body you want to. What's more since Bullworker training is progressive, you perform better each time. Yet the training always seems easy since with every workout your strength increases by about 1%—that's an increase of up to 50% in just three months, and I've seen many men go on to double and even triple their strength. For my money, Bullworker is the most advanced home trainer on the market. I use it and recommend it to any man who wants to get back in top shape fast.

NOW...an Olympic Champion introduces the SPEED SHAPER™ based on his amazing SYNOMETRICS™ concept, a combination of ISOMETRICS + ISOTONICS to help you...

Turn Belly Fat into a Rock-Hard Lean Stomach

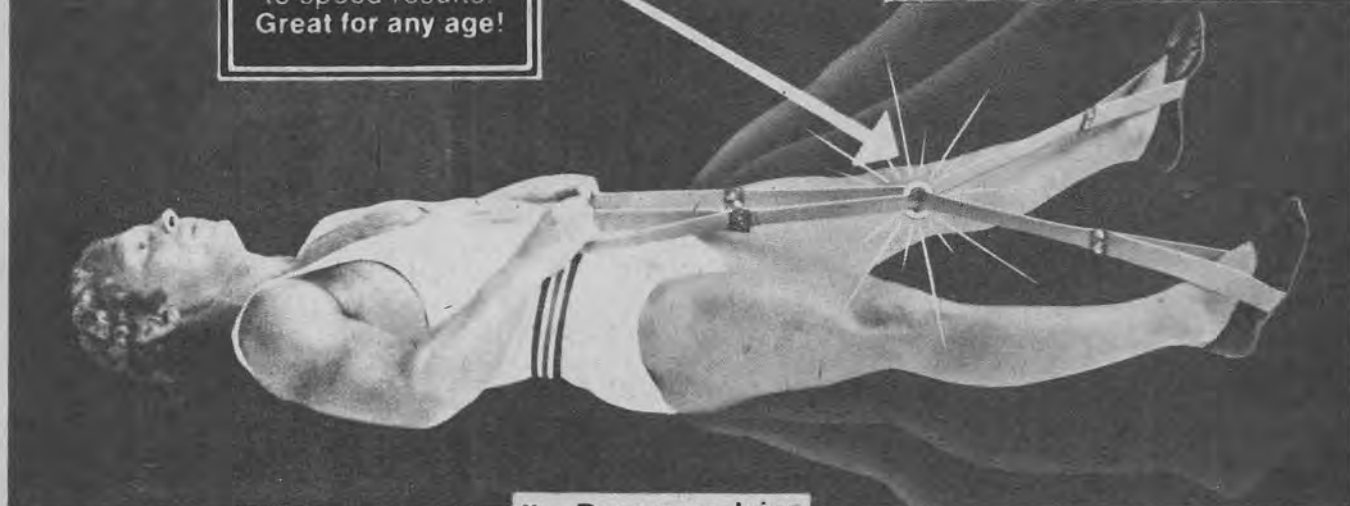

...in 7 short minutes a day with the "miracle" of SYNOMETRICS...the fantastic new discovery for speed shaping away ugly, embarrassing fat and flab...to reveal a brand new rock-hard, lean, trim, handsome body!

Introducing IKE BERGER—
Olympic Champion and truly one of the world's outstanding athletes.

- Olympic Gold medal winner (U.S. Team)
- World Champion (three times)
- Pan American Games Champion (twice)
- National Champion (twelve times)
- Undeclared in competition against Soviet Union (six tours behind the Iron Curtain)
- First man in the world to press double body weight

- Elected to the Hall of Fame.
- 20 years experience in physical fitness.

Now! Exclusive TENSION RING!
Lets you adjust tension control to speed results!
Great for any age!

Ike Berger explains What is Synometrics?

You already know about the Isotonic and Isometric principle of body dynamics. Millions of people use one or the other in their daily exercises. I used BOTH methods in my daily Olympic training for years in different separate exercises. One day I accidentally discovered that if I used BOTH methods together in one single exercise, I automatically speeded up the results tremendously and I reduced my daily exercise hour down to only 7 short minutes.

The Science of SYNOMETRICS

I later learned the scientific reason for this amazing result. It's called SYNERGISM—meaning that when you combine two methods the result is greater than the both of them separately. I now called my new discovery SYNOMETRICS and developed a special exercise unit I call the SPEED SHAPER. And that's just what it is...a speed method to give you results in minutes, NOT hours! Now...build yourself a "fantastic looking body" with the incredible SYNOMETRICS—the invention that works on the exciting new scientific concept of ISOTONIC + ISOMETRIC.

What Is The SPEED SHAPER?

An ingeniously designed amazingly compact slimming and shaping discovery that has no ropes or pulleys.

• Contains no metal, springs, gears or other dangerous or exhausting parts or complicated apparatus.

"I'M OVER 50, YET IN JUST 7 DAYS SPEED SHAPER™ 'BURNED' OFF THE FAT AND FLAB I'VE LIVED WITH FOR THIRTY YEARS."

"I'm over 50 and I thought my fat and flab was with me for life...SYNOMETRICS "burned" it off in only 7 days. In fact results came so fast I had to cut my daily 7 minute workout to 5 minutes to slow down the slimming process. It's the most amazing method I've ever tried...and I've tried just about every gadget and gimmick I've seen in magazines and TV."

HY HARRIS, New York, N.Y.

- It is NOT worn around your waist but its powerful effect can be selectively applied to ALL problem areas: stomach, waist, chest, arms and legs, safely, easily and FAST.
- It is so amazingly compact that it slips easily into your pocket to be with you whenever needed. Weighs 5 ounces.

IRON CLAD MONEY BACK GUARANTEE

In just a few days you must actually begin to see measurable, real results...or your money back promptly and without any question.

*No diet needed if daily caloric intake does not add to your present body weight.

The fans of tempestuous Bob Orton Jr. (above) can't figure out why he deserted his purely scientific style to become a rulebreaker. The fans of Andre the Giant hope he can overcome the conspiracy to drive him out of battle royals (right).

CAPSULE FAN

Congratulations on SPORTS REVIEW WRESTLING ANNUAL #1. It is a fine magazine which no wrestling fan can afford to be without.

Most important of all, I enjoyed the capsule profiles of wrestling stars. They were informative and included all the facts anyone would want to know about these six mat stars. I'll keep the magazine for years as background information to settle arguments about my favorites.

The entire magazine was a great success. I'm sure you'll keep up the excellent work.

TAD LEWIN
Fargo, North Dakota

WISHING HIM LUCK

I want Andre the Giant to know his fans are behind him all the way. No matter how many wrestlers plot to finish him off ("The Battle Royal The Giant Didn't Win" [SPORTS REVIEW ANNUAL #1]), we will still root for him and pray for his success.

I also want the other wrestlers to know no matter how many of them decide to torture Andre in battle royals, they can never be half the man Andre is. His courage is greater than all theirs put together.

I'll cheer for Andre over bullies anytime!

BOB DAWSON
San Antonio, Texas

HOME SWEET HOME

I don't understand it. How can a man with such a great homelife, as revealed in "At Home With... Bob Orton, Jr." (SPORTS REVIEW WRESTLING #1), be a dirty wrestler? Bob wasn't always a ruthless grappler. Why did he change?

Looking at his photos, I keep thinking about the strictly scientific wrestler Bob used to be. He seems so happy at home—as happy as he used to be when wrestling scientifically.

This article was the saddest I've ever read. It reminded me of what Bob Orton Jr. once was and what he has become.

TALE OF TENDLER

I was a fan of Mark Tendler before he suffered his back injury. Like many others, I was saddened when he was forced to leave the mat wars.

Today, I'm delighted to see Mark's return. I thought I recognized him in his movie role, "Badge 373," but I wasn't sure. Thanks to your excellent article, "Part-Time Wrestler" (SPORTS REVIEW WRESTLING ANNUAL #1), I learned of Mark's other occupations besides wrestling. It was fascinating reading.

MIDGET FISTS OF BLOOD

Little Boy Blue has to absorb the hard rights of Tom Pouce (above and right) before he gains control of this brutal slugfest (below). It was a war from start to bloody end!

the midgets continually drive themselves to prove their dignity.

Two midgets who have long hated their secondary importance in wrestling are Little Boy Blue and Tom Pouce. They hate the fans' insults almost as much as they hate each other. No matter how badly they maul each other, the fans refuse to believe the small men are actually hurting each other. It is as galling as it is unfair.

Match after match, one would use the other to prove his strength and stamina. Both men would leave the arena battered and sore. They would also leave to the sound of laughter.

Tom Pouce was determined this had to stop. All his life, people have laughed at his size. Nothing he has done was ever taken seriously. All his greatest accomplishments were made to seem less because he stood under four feet tall. He needed to be respected on his own terms.

Tom's friends noticed his brooding but they could do nothing for him—it would have to be done by himself. Two weeks after his lastest humiliation, Tom hit upon a plan. He refined the plan for another three days before contacting Little Boy Blue.

"I want a boxing match against you," Tom told his startled enemy. "I want the crowd to see our fists can be used as weapons. Their laughter will become screams as they see what we're capable of doing. They'll respect us as men and respect me even more as the conqueror of a man."

Blue was startled by the offer, but outraged by Pouce's boast. Terms for the match were negotiated in less than 10 minutes. A promoter in Quebec eagerly booked the bout.

"It'll be hilarious," he said after hanging up on Tom. No man has ever been more wrong.

Many fans were already chuckling when they bought tickets for the match. "Hilarious" again was the word used most often to describe the fans' expectations of the match. Despite the promise of flying leather, they assumed it couldn't be brutal: After all, they were only midgets.

Only two people took the bout

WHEN PAT BARRETT lost a match to Blackjack Mulligan recently because of a questionable call by the referee, he let everyone know how dissatisfied he was with the decision. He even tried to have the WWWF reverse the outcome of the match. Now he simply wanted a rematch against Mulligan.

However, Barrett discovered he would not be able to meet Mulligan again. In the interim, Mulligan had moved to another area, though his partner, Blackjack Lanza, remained behind. Lanza had heard Pat's remarks regarding the match in question, and was enraged to hear his partner and close friend besmeared by Barrett.

Pat was claiming he had been illegally pinned by Mulligan. The referee, Barrett claimed, had not seen Mulligan's foot on the ropes as Pat was prone on the canvas. He even offered photographic evidence to his allegation. Lanza dismissed the picture as a fake, and thought Barrett's claim to be highly improbable.

Finally Lanza could stand no more of the abuse Barrett was heaping upon his friend. A challenge was Robertson's sleeper hold has no effect on Spoiler (above) as the masked man prepares to flip Dewey over his back. All Spoiler is interested in is getting his glove back. Dewey's got it on HIS hand.

Dewey's a bloody mess (left). Spoiler really went all out to punish him for stealing his glove. The masked man applies a double face claw (right) as Dewey screams out in pain.

DON'T FOOL WITH The Spoiler's glove! No matter what you do—don't even think of trying to get the Spoiler's glove away from him.

If you do you might wind up like Dewey Robertson did in Houston, Texas. You might wind up being bathed in your own blood!

"The man's gotta be crazy to try that," revealed a big-name wrestler who obviously didn't want to have his name used. "People think because of my reputation, I'm not afraid of anything or anybody. But that's complete idiosy.

"Everybody knows their limits, and one of mine has to do with The Spoiler. I know how he feels about that glove he wears. He claims that he wears it to protect his hand while he's putting somebody in a clawhold.

"But I know for a fact it's a lot more than that to him. That glove is like his own personal championship belt. And you know how wrestlers feel about their belts. Once they win them, they'll do anything short of killing to keep them. And if they don't have them, they'll work themselves to death to get them.

"So when you fool with The Spoiler you've got to watch it. Wrestling with him is one thing. But trying to grab that glove away from him is playing with fire. You'll be lucky to crawl out of that arena on all fours!"

Good advice. But it came too late for Dewey Robertson. Dewey discovered how true it is, but he didn't find out soon enough.

"Ever since he's been here, The Spoiler has been a thorn in my side," Dewey proclaimed before the match. "And tonight I'm going to rid myself of him for good."

Robertson was basing that prediction on one real strong point—his Cobra hold. It's a hold he claims he learned while on an expedition in Africa. He's seen

Spoiler grabs a handful of Dewey's hair and prepares to fling him out of the ring. He still hasn't gotten his glove back and won't stop torturing Dewey until he does.

Dewey Robertson thought he'd put one over on The Spoiler when he swiped his glove. Dewey paid a price for his action—a very heavy price!

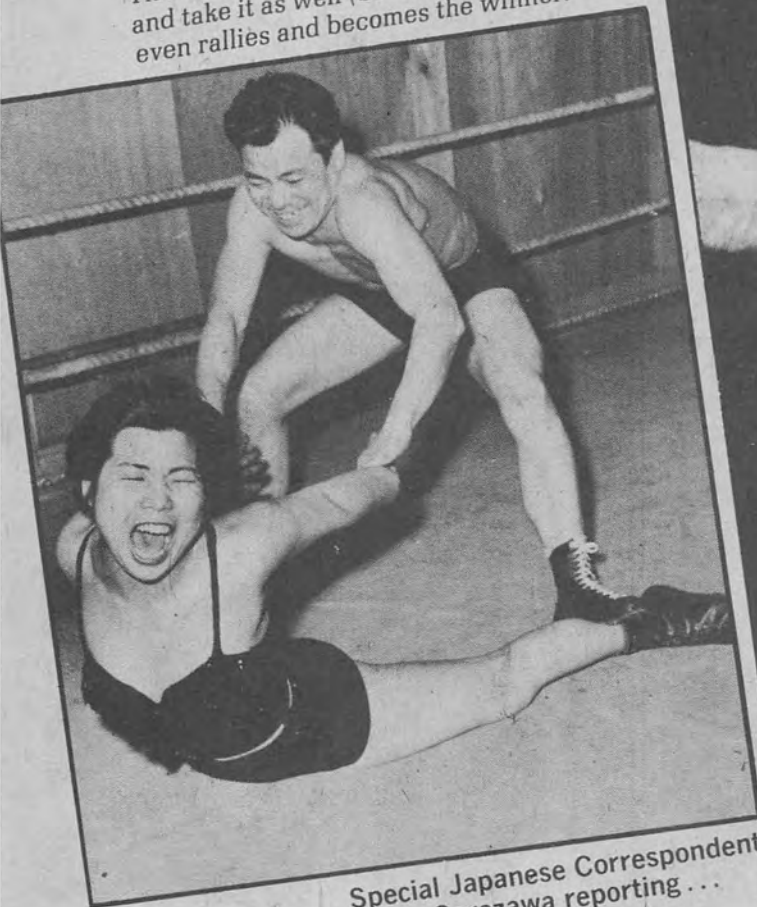

IN BLOOD!

What a surprise! Dewey's applying a claw hold on Spoiler's chest! It's not weakening Spoiler, it's making him madder! The Spoiler says, "The glove is like a title to me. Nobody takes it away and gets away with it!"

Wild Action Photos:

The lady can dish it out (right) and take it as well (below). She even rallies and becomes the winner.

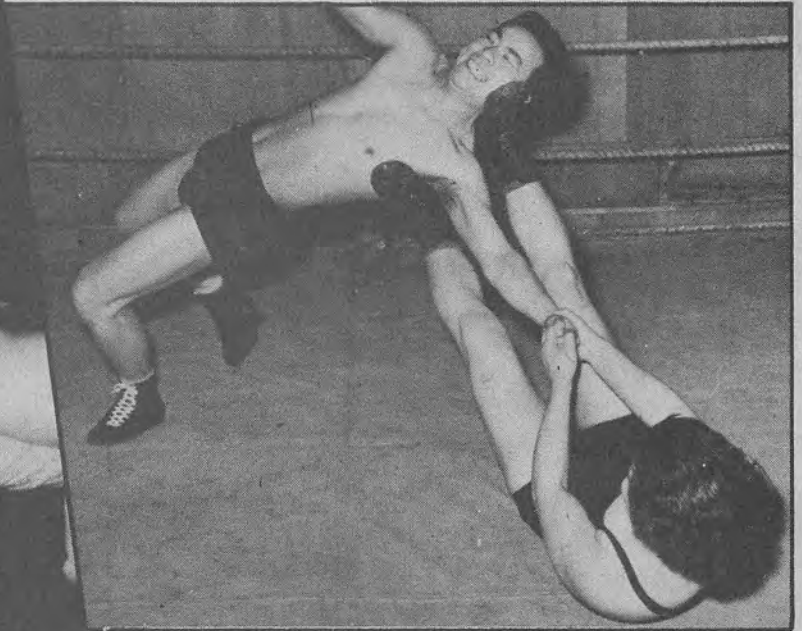

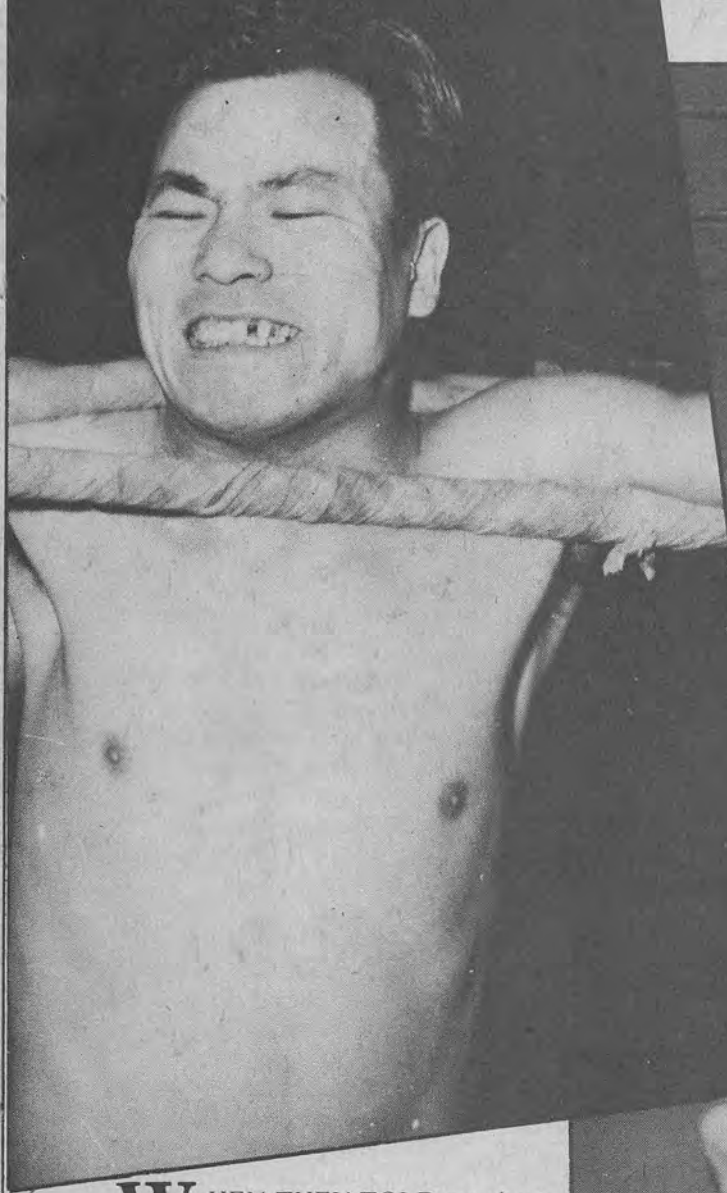

Special Japanese Correspondent
Hideo Sarazawa reporting...

MEN
WRESTLING
WOMEN IN JAPAN—AND WOMEN USUALLY WIN!

Male wrestlers in Japan are up against tough competition—WOMEN! And they're finding it darn hard to win any of the matches against the gals!

The young lady proves she is an accomplished athlete as she almost pulls the young man's arm off (above) and then pins him in a great steamroller pin (below).

WHEN THEY TOLD me about it, I couldn't believe it. Even after seeing it, I still don't believe it. I have been covering Japanese wrestling for many, many years. I've seen some strange things in my time. I thought nothing they could do could shock me. But when I received an invitation to cover a man against woman wrestling match, I was shocked!

I had heard about this phenomenon but could find nobody who had actually seen such a match. I simply considered it a rumor. But the invitation to a private club made me realize the rumor was true.

When I arrived at the club I saw the cream of Japan's new rich, the men and women behind the Japanese fortunes. Their clothes were splendid, truly Japan's beautiful people. It didn't take too much to figure that this was the sporting entertainment of the wealthy.

Before the match there was a champagne and Teriyaki buffet. By every third chair in the small, makeshift arena was a bottle holder so the spectator could refill his champagne glass while he or she watched.

Finally, the young man and woman entered the ring. Their names were not announced and I was to find out later that under no circumstances will the promoters allow their names to be revealed. They also refuse to say exactly why they demand this kind of security. However, it's their game and their rules.

Their was a restrained buzz of excitement when the two wrestlers took off their robes and waited in the corner for the match to begin. At no point during their match was there any cheering or shouting of any kind. However, there was an electricity running through the crowd that you could feel.

The match began and one could see immediately it would be a professional match between two talented wrestlers.

The man forgets that he is wrestling a lady during the fury of the match and delivers a brutal smash (left).

Above: The woman traps her opponent in a brutal headlock. Her arms are like a vise and does the hold hurt! The battle rages as the woman has her foe unable to escape her knee grinding into his stomach or her hand cruelly twisting his neck (left). This woman is a tiger!

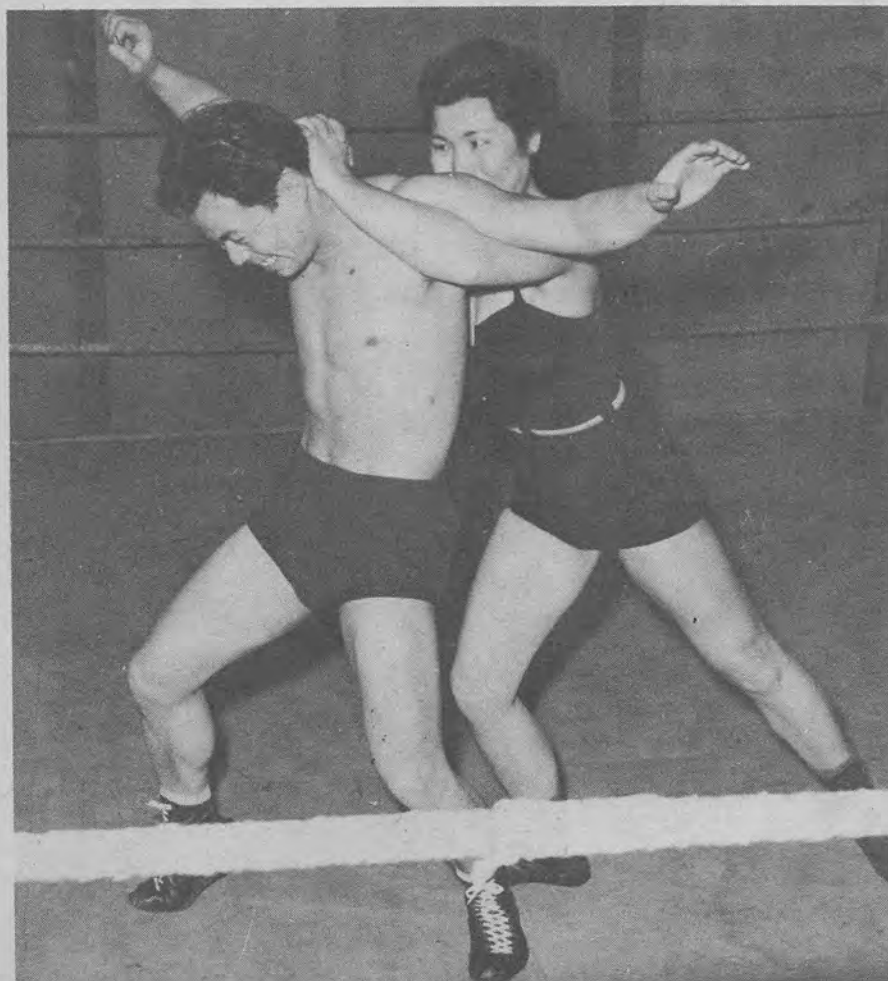

Though the man was at the most a middleweight, he was fast and clever. It was also clear he was stronger than most men his size.

It was the woman, however, who was the most startling wrestler I have ever seen. She had strength that had to come from the Gods. It just couldn't be stored in her slender body. Pound for pound, she may be the strongest creature on earth!

Others account for her strength by saying she has remarkable skill. She is able to use leverage and her opponent's momentum to her great advantage. They contend she is smarter than she is strong. It's her opponent's inability to cope with her extraordinary coordination that gives her the illusion of great strength. That's a real possibility and I'd be willing to hear more on the subject. In the meantime, I'll stand in awe of a magnificent woman's unbelievable strength.

Above: The woman proves that this is no joke as she pins her helpless opponent. He could not struggle out of the hold! Below: A full nelson is just as painful if done by either a man or a woman. And this girl knows what she is doing as the man's pained face shows.

The match was remarkable in the fact that you quickly forgot it was a man and woman wrestling! They were two fine athletes whose skills were admirable. The holds and counterholds were complex and would be the envy of many top professional wrestlers. And neither tried to be gentle.

In fact, the man came very close to trying illegal maneuvers that could have resulted in brutal injury if they had been successful. It was the woman's talent that prevented them from being successful. All told, it was a fine match between two athletes who were willing to suffer and inflict pain.

I was stunned when the woman defeated the man with a brilliantly executed maneuver. The crowd accepted this as if it was expected! I learned later that the women usually win. The differences between the sexes are disappearing faster than I thought!

After the match, I tried to interview either or both of the wrestlers. However, the promoters refused to allow anyone to see either one.

"They are wrestlers, not talkers," the promoter explained. "All you need to know about them is what you saw to-night."

"Can't I even ask the man how he feels wrestling a woman?" I pleaded.

"If you don't know the answer to that after seeing the match," the promoter said, "then nothing he could say could make it any clearer to you."

He was quite right. In the club that night were two athletes pitting their skills against one another. It didn't matter at all that one was a man and one was a woman. □

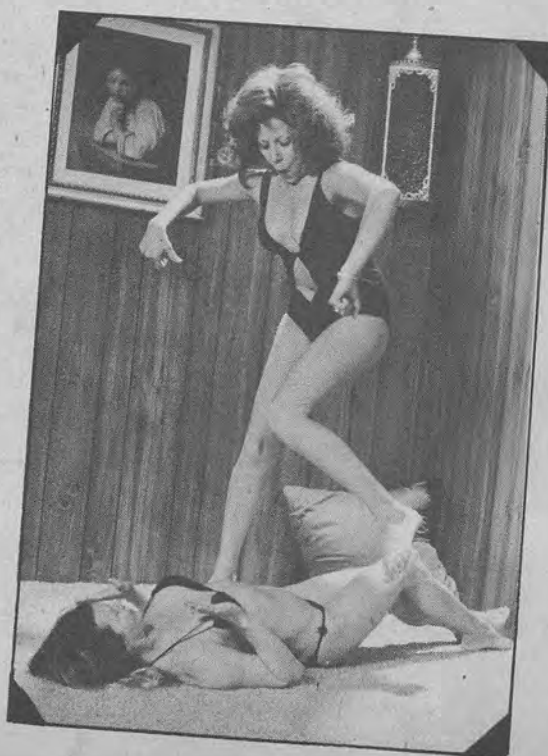

Left: Cynara gasps in agony as Molly drives her elbow into the blonde beauty's solar plexus in a bout which Los Angeles is still talking about! Above: Grabbing Tara's hair, Courtney exposes her foe's lovely neck—and tries to bite the soft flesh!

Below left: Gloria and Valerie tumble across the carpet as each tries to gain an advantage. Below: Barbara has Susan helpless as he drags her foe brutally across the carpet.

Left: Valerie slams her foot down on Gloria's head as she pinions the brunette upon the carpet. No one there will ever forget Gloria's guttural moans of pain and frustration. Below: Valerie tries to crush her lovely foe's skull with a headlock as she twists Gloria down.

Left: Susan presses down on Barbara's body with all her weight as the brunette tries to kick free from her tormentor's clutches. Below: Susan shoves her opponent against the wall. However, Barbara stops the assault by planting her knee hard into Susan's belly, weakening the blonde and allowing for escape.

Judy and Janet sprawl across the floor (below), their bodies entwined in savage fury. Notice the look of torment which distorts Judy's beautiful face. Janet refuses to show mercy for her fallen enemy.

AND THE BLOOD FLOWS IN TORONTO

THE PLASTIC KNIFE slashed across flesh. Blood stained the canvas. Sheik, his eyes glowing with killer lust, continued to rip the flesh of Mark Lewin's forehead to shreds.

It's a sickeningly regular practice of Sheik's. More than one man has been hospitalized from its effects. All of Lewin's skill would be needed to avoid permanent injury. However, Lewin was splendid; more than surviving, he became a hero.

With a series of movements too quick and complex to describe—all occurring in an instant—Lewin disarmed Sheik. The plastic knife skidded across the canvas. It had barely stopped before Mark pounced on it.

Sheik's career could have come to a bloody end against Mark Lewin. Read the shocking reason why an enraged Lewin spared his despised enemy!

Terror and rage flashed in Sheik's eyes. He had been humiliated and he was now in danger. He could either flee or attempt to regain his weapon. Attack was the course he chose.

Sheik's manager, Abdullah Farouk, visibly shook as he saw his wrestler risk his career. If Sheik refused to save himself, someone would have to do it for him.

"Referee!" Farouk screamed. "Lewin's got a knife! You blind, idiot? Lewin's armed! Stop him! Stop him!"

Before the referee could acknowledge the manager's instructions, the knife pounded into Sheik's forehead. Blood spurted from the gash, falling on Lewin's chest. There, it mixed with Mark's blood, still cascading down from his wounds.

At this point, the pair became a furious tangle of limbs as they

THE NIGHT THE FANS BOOED
ANDRE THE GIANT... AND CHEERED
OX BAKER

A HANDFUL AT a time, Ox Baker filled the mailbox with 2,000 envelopes. He had to steal out in the dead of night to ensure no one saw him. Secrecy was the most important part of his plan.

A week later, Baker strode into the arena for the most important match of his life. In a $50,000, winner-take-all match, he would battle Andre the Giant. Baker had won three elimination tournaments, often unscrupulously, for the chance at this fortune. He was imagining how he would spend the money as he climbed through the ropes and his feet felt the familiar softness of canvas.

What was unfamiliar to Baker was the sound of cheers. Sections all over the arena were cheering his appearance with wild abandon. The other fans, who had come to boo at the hated grappler's appearance, were stunned into silence.

The greatest shock occurred when Andre made his entrance. Instead of the usual thunderous ovation, the mat star was greeted with jeers and the vilest taunts. "Ugly freak!" was the nicest thing shouted at Andre; most comments were too disgusting to be reprinted. Andre stood motionless as the abuse was heaped upon him. His face betrayed his horror of the occurrence.

The referee finally had to lead the stunned wrestler to his corner. Andre, a man who loves the approval of the crowd more than most wrestlers, was overwhelmed by the wave of hate. Even the most thick-skinned human would be devastated by the hideous insults which kept coming and coming. It takes a special kind of person to say those things—the kind of person most people don't want to know.

The other spectators hoped this incredible abuse would cease once the match began. They underestimated the determined cruelty of the crowd. After the bell sounded, the ugly verbal assault intensified. At first, it made Andre sluggish; with only a portion of Driven berserk by the taunts of the fans, Andre batters Baker (above) and then unravels his foe's bandage (below), which could have easily resulted in permanent injury to Ox Baker!

What caused the fans to heap insults on Andre the Giant? And can Ox Baker ever be forgiven for causing this night of infamy?

Enraged, Andre towers over the fallen Baker. In the next few seconds, Andre would ruthlessly kick Baker repeatedly and hard!

his concentration on the battle. Each new insult hit like a bullet in Andre's brain.

As the battle wore on, the giant's anguish turned to outrage. Like a wounded animal, Andre savaged his foe. Any scientific maneuver Andre might have used wasn't intentional. By killing Baker, he felt he was killing the crowd.

Andre's tactics matched the ugliness of the crowd. He was a whirlwind of brutality. Baker didn't try to mount an attack of his own; he attempted only to survive. If there wasn't $50,000 in the balance, Ox would have fled back to the dressing room after the first minute.

Again and again, the referee warned

Andre to stop his savage brawling. The anguished grappler would try to keep his temper in check, but then the insults would start again. Fans who supported Andre were afraid to shout encouragement. A young fan of the giant's had already been beaten by one of the Baker's toughs. Nobody wanted a repetition of that bloody incident.

Again and again, Andre would try to keep his temper in check; each time the insults made him lose control. One could see in Andre's eyes the torment he suffered. His professional pride kept telling him to ignore the insults and battle intelligently. Andre's actions showed he was out of control.

An observer could almost sense Andre's desire for the referee to finally disqualify him thus ending this humiliating agony. No amount of money in the world was worth this night of horror.

The end came with quick ferocity. Andre hurled Baker into a corner, tangling Ox in the ropes. Helpless and trapped, Baker couldn't escape Andre's punching and kicking. Over and over again, fists and feet lashed into their human target. Perhaps it was a trick of the lights, but some observers swore they could see tears streaming down Andre's face as he pounded away at Baker—and all those who were tormenting him on this nightmare evening.

Inevitably, the referee dragged Andre away from his opponent and awarded the match to Baker on a disqualification. The ordeal over, Andre rushed to the refuge of his dressing room. Baker was helped to his feet and given the check. The money made the pain seem worthwhile.

The story would have ended there except for a visit paid to this office by one of the men who had hurled insults on this notorious night. Ashamed, the man came to us to confess, knowing fans would learn of Baker's deed through this magazine. Naturally, our informant must remain anonymous. His story, however, has been confirmed by three others who also wish to make public apologies to Andre.

"We were hired by Baker," the man swears, "with our mission being to drive Andre berserk. Ox himself wrote many of the insults we shouted that night. It seems he knows what most infuriates Andre. I'm not proud of what I did.

"Baker felt by making Andre go haywire he could win the money. It cost him $10,000 to hire the 2,000 of us. So he made $40,000 profit on the night. I don't hate Andre. None of us do. We were just doing our job.

"I didn't know words could hurt that much. I also want to admit something—I enjoyed watching Andre fall apart. The sense of power I got watching my words make him crazy was incredible. I could never beat up Andre—or anyone else, really—with my strength. When my words made him crack, I felt like the most powerful guy on earth.

His face twisted in hatred, Andre turns to those fans shouting vile and obscene insults at him. However, they, in the protective cloak of darkness, continued to hurl the most repulsive epithets at the towering grappler. Only later would it be known that these people were especially recruited and paid for by Ox Baker!

"I loved every minute of it, but I'm ashamed I ever did it."

Baker denies the man's story. One wouldn't expect him to admit to such an unscrupulous deed. However, the evidence makes it appear Baker is indeed guilty of doing it. The world knows how low Ox Baker will sink for $40,000.

Andre the Giant believes the fan's confession. It is his hope the incident will never be repeated. If the fans really despised him, he knows he would be driven from the sport is less than a week! □

MANY CAREFUL OBSERVERS of the NWA have focused their attention on one man whose career is on the rise. The fans have already shown their great admiration of his grappling abilities and flock to see him whenever they hear he is scheduled to wrestle. Even his fellow wrestlers have to admire his courage and talent. And everyone is surprised by his sudden rise to fame.

Though no longer considered a rookie, Dino Bravo is being called the fastest rising star in the wrestling world. And many experts foresee a time in the not-so-distant future when Dino Bravo will be wearing a championship belt. He is that highly regarded.

The handsome, strong, intelligent young grappler is trying hard to carve out a big niche in the history of wrestling. The ease with which he overcomes opponents is already nearly legendary.

But not everyone is so quick to sing the praises of Dino Bravo. There are some people, whether motivated by fear or jealousy or insecurity, who simply dislike the handsome young mat star. There are some men, trying vainly to cover up their own inabilities, who boast of being able to defeat the popular grappler.

Nicolai Volkoff and his advisor Gary Hart are two such men.

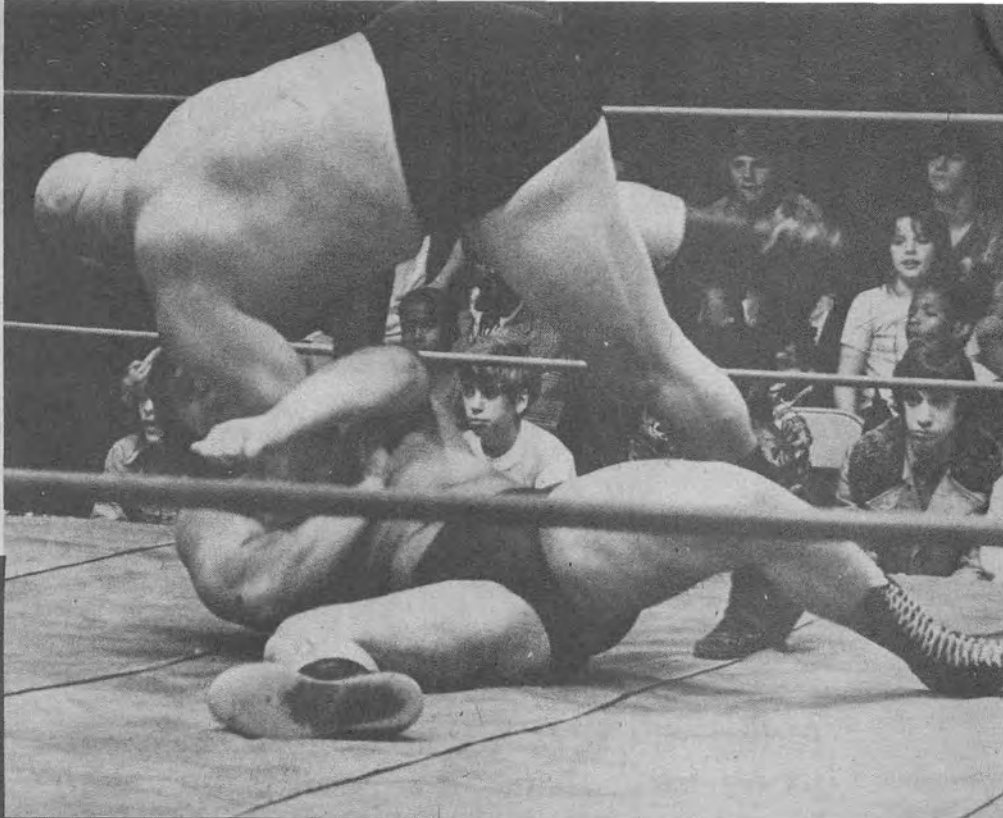

"We don't have anything against the young man," says Hart, speaking for Volkoff. "It is simply we think he is overrated. He has been around too short a time to really prove himself against seasoned professionals like Nicolai Volkoff. He still needs to learn the finer points of wrestling. He is too

Not even Nicolai Volkoff can stop Dino Bravo's march to a glorious future. This is only one of the reasons, however, Dino is one of the happiest men in wrestling!

THE CONTENTED WORLD OF CHIEF JAY STRONGBOW

A day on Chief Jay Strongbow's ranch is an experience never to be forgotten. Here's why Jay, who's traveled the world, loves a small farm away from everyone

BY BILL APTER

WE WALKED QUIETLY so as not to wake the roosters—they would rise with the sun. A day on Chief Jay Strongbow's ranch begins before the dawn.

Members of the press invited to spend the day on his spread stumbled after their host. Most wished they were still in bed and all were seriously considering another profession. Those who weren't half-asleep were trying to figure out ways of returning to the bedroom.

Strongbow, however, never appeared livelier. He seemed to draw his strength from the brisk air and anticipation of a day's labor with the earth. His eyes took in everything, checking out every minute detail. He knew from past experience the havoc a night can bring to a farm. Nature never really sleeps.

Happily, all was as Jay had left it the night before. All needing to be done today were the hundred backbreaking chores normally associated with the cattle ranch.

As the sun turned the blackness bright, Jay entered the barn. His first task would be to repair a fence. Blowtorch in hand, the wrestling great proved himself an expert welder. Once repairs were made, Jay started his tractor. We were ready to see the ranch for which Chief Jay Strongbow had battled and bled.

There's a lot of hard work connected to the good country life, as a day on Strongbow's ranch will show. Whether it is slopping the pigs (above), shucking corn (below right), mending fences (bottom), or simply pointing out work to be done the next day (below left), a man earns his keeps when he works on this ranch! Yet, despite grueling labor, it's a great way to spend the day—or a lifetime!

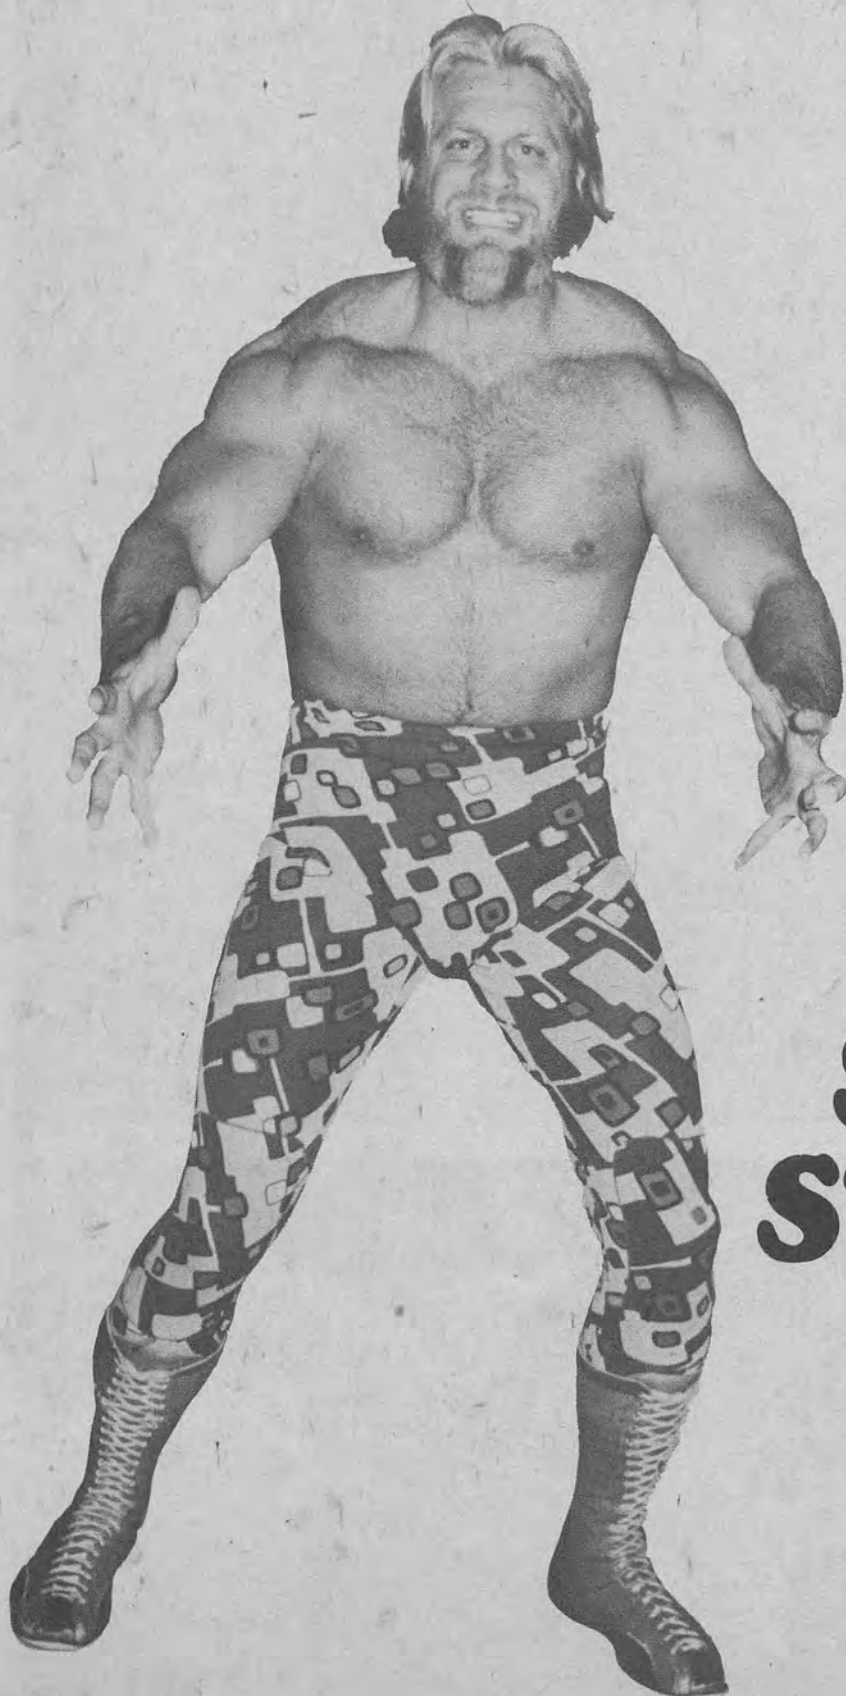

The one man terrifying Steve Strong might not even exist—yet he drives Steve on to conquer the world!

THE SAME NIGHTMARE still haunts Steve Strong's sleep: He is standing at the door of a seedy bar in the waterfront district of New Orleans. It has been a difficult night for him already—he had to bounce three rowdies from the bar, and there are still six hours until closing. Suddenly, nine huge thugs attack him, knocking him to the floor. The situation seems entirely hopeless.

Somehow, the young dreamer is able to overcome each illusionary adversary one by one. In a few short minutes, there is only one thug still standing. He bares his teeth to the young dreamer. Then the thug attacks, knocking the dreaming man to the barroom floor. The two men tumble around the seedy establishment for 10 minutes, with neither being able to take command of the situation. After a while, they stop their battling, too tired to continue. The dreamer awakens.

"I should have beaten all of them," Steve Strong says to himself.

The young man sits up in bed and reflects on what he had just dreamt. It was a situation now distant to him. A few years ago he had been that bouncer in that seedy New Orleans bar. He had been attacked by nine thugs just off a ship. And he had overcome all but one of them. But now he was no longer a bouncer. He was a professional wrestler.

The transition of Steve Strong, bouncer, to Steven Strong, professional wrestler was a strange one. He remembered it very well. One night he had been on the job when a well-dressed man became rowdy. Steve tried to let the man leave quietly, but he would not move. So Steve picked the man up bodily, and threw him out onto the street.

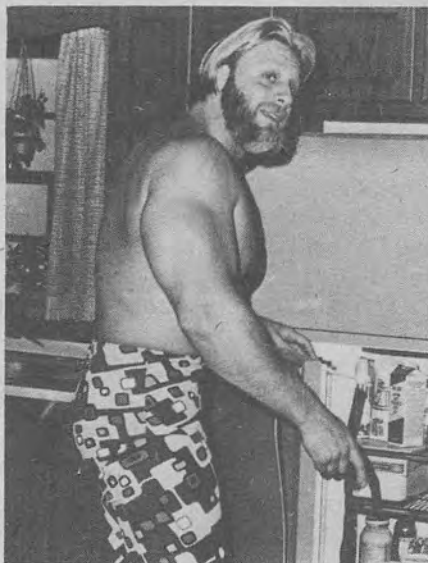

Steve was quite shocked the next night to see the well-dressed man return to the bar. The stranger approached Steve. Strong recoiled, but the stranger tried to reassure him: "Look, I'm not drunk tonight. I won't get out of hand. However, I came back here to see you."

Steve recoiled even more. Yet for some reason, he felt he had to trust this stranger.

The man continued: "I am a promoter for professional wrestling. Though I was not in the best condition last night, I could not help but notice your powerful strength. In fact, I'm still hurting from it today. In any case, I did a little checking today when I recovered, and I found out you really are a strong young man. The owner of the bar told me the story of how you overcame nine thugs who attacked you, and I was very impressed.

"Young man, you have talent you are not using. You could be a great professional wrestler, and I aim to make you one."

Steve was stunned by the proposition, but in a few minutes, he left the seedy New Orleans bar forever and began his professional career. Strong trained very hard for the first few months under the promoter. Then he met "Superstar" Billy Graham, and another change occurred in his life: He became Graham's protege, and soon was learning under Billy's personal tutorage.

In the time since he has come under Graham's instruction, Steve has developed considerably as a wrestler, as well as developing his own distinct style.

"I am a much different wrestler today than I was when I was a bouncer in that bar," says Steve. "Billy Graham has given me confidence. And he has allowed me to develop my own special techniques. And though I idolize Superstar Graham, I think I am

The secret of teaching yourself music

Learn piano, guitar, etc., at home in spare time

It may seem odd at first—the idea of teaching yourself music. You might think you need an expensive private teacher to instruct you—and to tell you when you make a mistake.

But, the fact is, you don't. Thousands have taught themselves to play with the U.S. School of Music courses. By mail. So can you.

The secret lies in the step-by-step way our lessons teach you. Starting from scratch, they show you with simple words and pictures exactly what to do. You learn to play the right way — by note, from sheet music. Without gimmicks.

But how do you know you're doing it right? Easy. A lot of the tunes you'll practice first are simple songs you've heard before. Since you know how they're supposed to sound, you can tell when you've "got them right."

By the time you go on to more advanced pieces, you'll be able to tell if your notes and timing are right, even without having heard the songs. Before too long, you'll be playing different kinds of music: ballads, old favorites, show tunes, or hymns.

For more information about this convenient, economical way to learn music, mail the coupon. We'll send you our free booklet, "Be Your Own Music Teacher" and a free "Note-Finder." No obligation.

Above: A heartbroken and badly bleeding Tom Pouce realizes he has lost the fight. Below: Tom is rocked by a very hard right.

seriously. They were the two who would feel the punches and sustain the injuries. Blue and Pouce worked as never before. Their bodies would ache from the tremendous workouts, but they wouldn't quit. It would be the biggest test of their lives. Victory meant dignity.

The night of the bout, fans filled the arena, expecting to laugh at the evening's entertainment. None suspected laughter would curdle in their throats and many would turn away from the furious violence.

Less than 10 seconds after the bout started, fans realized there would be no laughter this night. Both men were throwing leather with controlled fury. Any of their blows would deck a man twice their size. The fans, not knowing how to react, watched in awed silence.

The arm of Little Boy Blue is raised in victory; a win for which he'll be respected for as long as men engage in sport!

At the end of the first round, both men knew they had been in for a rough three minutes. Their corners hurled instructions at them as each used the minute to regain his strength. When the bell rang again, the two leaped again into battle.

A pattern began to emerge. Blue used his greater height to throw hard rights which bounced against Pouce's skull. Pouce worked in close, using his left to lead in and wear his foe down. Neither man became reckless despite the increased pressure. Above all else, they were cunning professionals.

By the 10th round, both men were bruised. Body shots had taken their tolls. Pouce's arms dropped dangerously. Blue's rights more frequently landed directly on target. A large cut appeared over Pouce's eye. Tom was blinded by his own blood and defenseless to block his foe's punches. A hard right sent him sprawling to the canvas. On courage alone, he leaped to his feet. However, the referee saw he could fight no more and awarded the victory to Little Boy Blue.

There was no shame in losing for Tom Pouce. The crowd cheered both great battlers. The fans had learned size isn't as important as skill and bravery. They would never again laugh at midgets or dismiss their maneuvers as "antics."

Those who had come to laugh at the midgets left to spread the word about two great men. □

That's what makes your magazines so great—portrayal of the grapplers as complex human beings rather than mindless athletes. Congratulations again on your excellent work.

NONSENSE!

Though I believe in free speech and all, why did you have to give the Blackjacks an open forum to write "We've Got The Best Clawhold—And We Can Prove It!" I've never read such nonsense!

To give them free speech to brag about their cheating is ridiculous. The clawhold they use is illegal! Even illegal, it is not the best around. It is an insult to others to say it is.

I'm still steaming after reading their article. I hope someone takes their challenge and shuts them up for good!

WONDERFUL MEMORIES

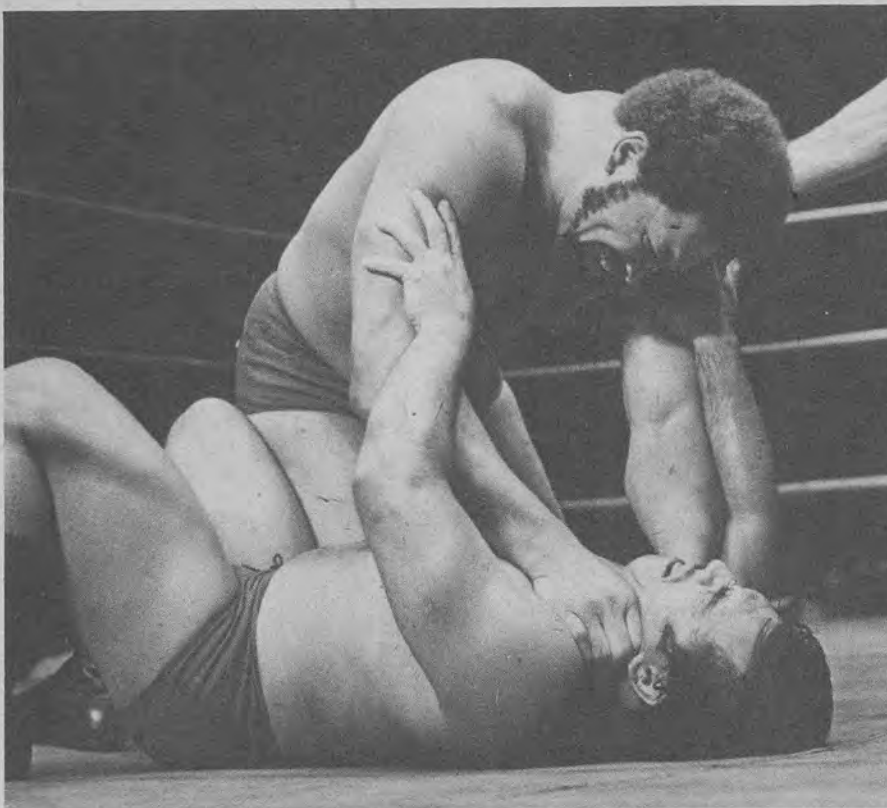

Since I think Dory Funk Jr.'s reign as NWA king was the greatest era in wrestling history, I was really excited to read "Dory Funk Jr.'s Championship Years Scrapbook" (SPORTS REVIEW WRESTLING ANNUAL #1). Knowing these were Dory's favorite photos made it doubly exciting.

Thanks for the chance to see how Dory Funk Jr. remembered his NWA reign. It was a thrilling experience.

BETTER THAN KOLOFF

There is no denying Ivan Koloff has a great bearhug ("Ivan Koloff Will Match Bearhugs With Anybody"

Above: Ernie Ladd ruthlessly chokes Ruben Juarez. Even though Ernie has used tactics employed only by the most savage and cruel rulebreakers, fans still admire the man's incredible power and athletic ability. No matter what you think of Ernie Ladd's sportsmanship, there can be no denying his phenomenal ability.

[SPORTS REVIEW WRESTLING ANNUAL #1]). However, I don't think it can compare to Billy Graham's.

Recently, Graham matched bear-hugs with Bruno Sammartino in Madison Square Garden and Billy won. Koloff can't claim a victory like that!

Graham is the greatest as far as I'm concerned. And if Koloff knows what's good for him, he will never try to prove differently.

MILLIE WOCHINSKI
Stratford, Connecticut

LAUDING LADD

When you write "Everyone Respects Ernie Ladd" (SPORTS REVIEW WRESTLING ANNUAL #1), you sure hit the nail right on the head.

Ernie can do it all against anyone. He doesn't care what the fans think of him; he just listens to his own advice. When it comes to being his own man, Ladd is champion in my book.

No matter what people think of Ernie, no one dares underestimate him. He is the most remarkable man in wrestling!

sent out to Barrett, and the Irish grappler readily accepted: "This is not exactly what I wanted as a rematch to prove my contention, but it is the next thing."

Lanza was quite happy when Barrett accepted the challenge: "Now I will teach that two-bit excuse for a wrestler just who he can go around slandering. He will learn the Blackjacks stick together. We defend each other whenever we can. And neither Mulligan nor I will let Barrett say a bad thing about either of us again!"

There was a sense of tension in the arena the night the two grapplers were scheduled to meet. A cold, chilling wind of unease swept the arena. No one knew what to expect.

What followed was 30 minutes of intense yet careful battling. Neither wrestler wanted to be disqualified for using an illegal tactic. Neither wrestler wanted to be in the position of allowing his opponent a momentary advantage.

In the end, the referee had no choice but to call the match a draw, with neither grappler really attaining the revenge he so desired to extract. Both men left the arena saddened by the lack of a clear-cut victory. And both men left the arena demanding a rematch—this time a battle without a time limit. ☐

The Spoiler's got his glove back and he's going completely berserk. After several devastating knee drops to Dewey's throat, Spoiler rammed his head into the iron ringpost!

that deadly snake attack game 10 times it's size and kill with unbelievable strength and sudden striking power.

"My Cobra hold will put that Spoiler out forever," predicted Robertson. "The Spoiler will be too-spoiled to ever wrestle again."

But his opponent wasn't in the least bit worried. "He talks about his great Cobra hold. As far as I'm concerned that idiot doesn't have the strength of a garter snake. He's all talk. And if he doesn't stop rattling his mouth off, somebody's gonna shut that mouth for good!"

The fans were anxious to see Robertson and his Cobra hold pitted against The Spoiler and his clawhold. But they were also there because each of these men hates the other. This figured to be one helluva match.

Within seconds after the opening bell, Dewey was dropkicking and kneedropping The Spoiler time after time, but Spoiler was able to get up and return the tactic.

One minute The Spoiler was sitting on the canvas and the next it was Robertson. Then the match got even faster. Suddenly, both guys were whipping off the ropes into each other, occasionally knocking each other down at once.

The fans could hardly keep up with the action. It was sometime during this fast-moving part of the match that The Spoiler's glove got loose and started to slip off his hand.

Robertson grabbed it, put it on his own hand, and went around the ring holding it up to show everyone. That may have been his big mistake.

The Spoiler was mad as it was, but he became boiling mad at Robertson's arrogant attitude.

The Spoiler went directly for his glove, and as far as he was concerned if he wound up taking off Robertson's hand with it, that was just too bad.

But Dewey pushed him away and delivered some solid punches to his opponent's chest. Then he grabbed Spoiler's arm and whipped him to the other side of the ropes.

A supremely confident Robertson delivered three kneedrops in a row and The Spoiler looked like he just about had it.

Sensing the opportunity, Robertson jumped on Spoiler's back, locked his knees onto his hips and started using the opponent's glove to his advantage.

Here was The Spoiler's opponent not only wearing his own glove, not only bandying it around the ring like a prize, but now using his glove to deliver a vicious claw hold on The Spoiler!

The pain Spoiler was feeling was mild compared to the hate that was building up inside of him. As soon as that hold would be released, Spoiler would turn into the murderer and Dewey Robertson would be his victim.

The Spoiler leaned back with a sudden, violent movement, violent enough to send Dewey dropping on his head. Once down, he lost no time in putting a tight chinlock on Robertson. Dewey tried in vain to reach back for The Spoiler's neck.

The Spoiler dragged Robertson to his feet and then punched him to the canvas. Then he did it again until Dewey could hardly stand on his feet.

"Maybe you'll learn something from this!" screamed The Spoiler as he lifted Dewey from the canvas again and dragged him furiously by the hair to the other side of the ropes.

When he let go, Robertson was plummeting—head first—into the canvas. He kicked him over and put his full weight on Robertson while kicking his chest with his boot.

But this was only a buildup for the final move. He dragged the almost unconscious Robertson toward a corner and pounded his head into the metal turnbuckle, until the blood started to gush.

Robertson's knees started to buckle under him. As he fell to the canvas, Spoiler grabbed his glove back and muttered "You're getting off lucky this time. You're lucky you're crawling out of here alive."

Dewey somehow got to his feet and made his way out of the ropes. A security guard pushed his way ahead of Robertson to insure he'd get down to the dressing room where medical attention was waiting.

"I don't know what happened," muttered Robertson in his dressing room. "I thought I had this match. I thought I was wiping him out. But all of a sudden everything was happening at once and none of it was good. All I know is there was nothing I could do to stop that maniac. He must be completely insane. Otherwise how could you explain it?"

Maybe the only to explain it is that the glove is something mighty important to The Spoiler, and anyone who tries to take it away is doing so at the risk of his life! □ bove: Though no one realizes it, Sheik has a plastic knife hidden in his hand as he slashes away at Mark Lewin. Below: Abdullah Farouk, Sheik's manager, leaps at Lewin when the bloody grappler goes over the ropes and crashes hard onto the wooden press table.

Lewin still had possession of the weapon. He soon sliced up Sheik's head until the flesh was shredded. Even the most hardened observer turned away from the gory sight. Farouk, though terrified at the fate of his wrestler, lacked the courage to interfere with this raging battle. So the two warred on.

The referee, attempting to stop the melee, used the only tactical weapon at his disposal; he began to count the wrestlers out. In 20 seconds, one or both men would be disqualified if they didn't return to the ring. When the referee finished his count, he disqualified both warriors still slashing away on the concrete floor.

Somehow, through the blood and sweat, Sheik realized what had happened. His Arabic pride refused to allow what he considered a miscarriage of justice. He leaped back into the ring and after the referee. Lewin, far from finished with his despised foe, pursued.

Sheik, in attacking the referee, turned his back on Lewin. Before the hated mat/star could touch the official, Lewin had captured him in a Sleeper hold. Sheik struggled like a trapped struggled, half-blinded by blood, for the knife and supremacy. They stumbled and groped around the ring, battling from instinct alone. The squared circle proved too small to contain this vortex of violence. The two bloody figures spilled over the ropes and crashed to the Toronto Arena's floor. Their fury was so great, neither man was stunned by the fall. They continued to battle as if nothing happened.

animal, but he could not escape. Slowly but surely, consciousness left him. Soon, he fell to the canvas, lifeless.

Farouk sprang into the ring. He knew Lewin was the only man in the arena who could revive Sheik. He also knew if a man is not brought out of the Sleeper within 30 minutes, brain damage would result. With the loss of blood Sheik suffered during the match, the time was probably less. However, Lewin was headed back to the dressing room.

"Revive him!" Farouk shouted at the retreating form. "You can't leave! You can't leave!"

Abdullah Farouk is attacked by Lewin who is attacked by Sheik as the match becomes a bloody brawl to the finish.

"Try and stop me!" Lewin snarled over his shoulder and continued back to the dressing room.

"I'll drag you through every court in the world!" Farouk threatened. "I'll kill you! I swear it!"

"You'll have plenty of time to try!" Lewin shouted back and kept walking.

"Please!" Farouk pleaded, tears welling up in his eyes. "I'm begging you! Revive him! I beg you!"

Lewin wheeled around, but he didn't return to the ring. He had a promise to exact first.

"Can I have Sheik in a Texas death match?" he asked, "with no time limit, no disqualifications, survival of the fittest."

"Yes! Yes!" Farouk agreed, his eyes lighting up with the prospect of Sheik getting Lewin in a death match.

So Mark Lewin revived Sheik. Perhaps, when the two return to Toronto next month, Sheik will wish he was still unconscious! □

Before the day is through, Jay has inspected all his livestock including cattle (above) and donkeys (below). Rugged Jay is very tender with his animals.

When we left the barn, a glorious sunrise was making everything we saw splendid. Awed in silence by nature's beauty, the troop made its way to the first destination. We had to replace the fence just mended.

After that chore, with which we inexpertly but enthusiastically helped, we made the early morning rounds. I sat next to Strongbow on his tractor as we slowly surveyed the land. Every so often we would stop and examine the cattle and horses. Strongbow knew every one individually and told me its history. Over the roar of the tractor, he told anecdotes concerning the special features of his land.

Listening to Jay was one of the most moving experiences of my life. The land was wedded to him, its unique features as much a part of his instincts as wrestling maneuvers. For the first time in my life I understood how men could devote their lives to back-breaking labor for so little financial rewards and so much disappointment.

Strongbow is paced in his daily roadwork by this reporter atop a very tame horse (above). We use the tractor to travel to the spot where we have to take the newly mended fence (below).

We were selecting horses for riding when Big Jim joined us. A neighbor of Strongbow's, he often wanders over to his friend's ranch to compare notes and help out. Watching the two men discuss particulars and work together, one appreciates the sense of community shared by those who live with the land.

Before lunch, Jay decided to do roadwork. Even on the farm, he never strays far away from wrestling. I mounted a horse and rode alongside him, pacing Jay. Of the three of us, I think this reporter got the worst of it!

Lunch was thick meat sandwiches prepared by Jay's wife, Mary.

Strongbow feigns fright as his wife laughingly attacks him with a pot (above). After dinner, in the last light of the day, the two decide to imitate Grant Wood's "American Gothic" painting (below).

Starving, we attacked the food. It never tasted better.

We toiled until the sun went down. Driving back on the tractor in the dusk, I couldn't help looking back on the land. I never felt so close to anything after only one day. I knew its beauties and dangers like an old friend. Imagine how close Strongbow must feel to his ranch!

To reward us for a day's labors, Mary made a huge Southern dinner. Big Jim joined us and we all stuffed ourselves on excellent food. It was all freshly homemade and delicious.

After dinner, we sat around and discussed the ranch. Even though we were all involved in wrestling, the world of canvas and ropes seemed like another planet. All that mattered was how late the hay could be harvested and would there be enough extra to sell.

When we finally said goodnight, I could barely move from exhaustion. Falling into bed, I had never felt more like I was home. □ clumsy—too easy too defeat.

"There may come a time when Dino Bravo will be able to handle more experienced wrestlers like Nicolai. However, he is still an inexperienced little man who is only beginning to learn his way around the ring. Nicolai would have no problem defeating him."

When Hart made these remarks for Volkoff, the Russian grappler had not yet been scheduled to wrestle against Dino. However, when Bravo heard what Hart had said, he immediately demanded to be matched against Volkoff: "I want to prove to them, and to the world, how much ability I really have. I think it would surprise Volkoff and Hart to discover how much I really know."

"Hart and Volkoff say I have too little experience to really be a formidable opponent. Fine, let them think that. They will soon be sorry they ever tried to criticize me, without actually knowing from where they speak."

The night of the battle proved to be a tense one. Volkoff and Hart entered the arena first. There was little applause for their entrance. Volkoff stolidly walked to the ring. Then Dino Bravo entered. Immediately there were loud cheers and raves for the handsome young grappler. The women in the audience went wild. Dino smiled back at all his fans as he took his place inside the ring.

Dino's agility is evident by his fantastic leap to come down hard on Volkoff (above). Dino is also able to withstand the agony of being captured in one of Volkoff's headlocks (below).

As soon as the bell rang, Bravo rushed out to the center of the canvas, expecting Volkoff to do the same. But the Russian surprised the young man. He slowly stalked around the ropes, carefully watching every nervous move Dino made.

It took little time for Bravo to realize Volkoff was trying to psyche him out. He decided to give Nicolai a taste of his own medicine. Bravo stopped moving and stood perfectly still, not moving a single muscle. This tactic flustered Volkoff, who had not expected Dino to do anything like this. He knew it was now his turn to move. He had only one choice: He had to attack Bravo, and soon. He rushed toward the young grappler. Just as he was nearing Dino, the young man stepped aside and Volkoff went crashing into the ropes. Dino had set a simple trap for the Russian, and Volkoff had fallen in it!

Though Dino had been thrown over the ropes, he leaps back into the fray and sends Tony Rocco sprawling (above). It is the ability to come back from disaster that makes Dino appear to be a future champ.

All Nicolai's valued experience could not help him defeat Dino within the allotted time limit. Everytime Volkoff tried a maneuver, Bravo easily countered it. Once it even looked like Nicolai would not be able to finish the match. Dino executed a superb flying dropkick, stunning the Russian wrestler. Finally the referee ended the match, declaring the contest a draw.

After the match, Dino was happy: "I only wish I could have soundly defeated him. He gave me a tough match, but I gave him one too. I don't think he or Gary Hart are going to go around saying I'm overrated anymore!"

Back in his dressing room, Nicolai was pondering about what had just happened. Hart spoke for him: "Bravo had some lucky breaks tonight. And, though it is hard to admit, he may even be better than we have given him credit for being. He still has a lot of room for improvement. And he still needs a lot of luck in order to win."

With one more critic quieted, Dino Bravo looks forward to a long and illustrious career. And someday, he may even be wearing a world championship belt around his waist. □

Steve doesn't hesitate to rake Alberto Madrill's neck across the ring ropes. Like Billy "Superstar" Graham, Strong is ruthless in his pursuit of victory. It's only a matter of time before his cruelty causes another man's career to end in bloodsoaked agony!

becoming better than he is."

Steve has already captured the hearts of several young female wrestling fans. His entrance into an arena provokes thousands of feminine shrieks. And he accepts the adulation as if it was his due.

"Naturally they cheer me," says Steve. "They cannot help but admire greatness. The fans all know they are seeing the man who will someday be called 'The Greatest Wrestler EVER!' In all modesty, I am even a bit awed everytime I see myself in a mirror.

"Of course, I owe a lot of my success to Superstar Graham and his fantastic body-building program. Where once I had powerful muscles, I now have superstrong muscles. In a sense, Graham has helped me live up to my name.

"There may come a time when Billy and I will have to face each other as opponents. While I admit it will be difficult to wrestle against my mentor, I know I have developed to a point where I will be able to win. But as for now, I do not plan to battle Graham. I owe too much of my success to him."

Superstar Graham speaks highly of his protege: "Steve is an excellent wrestler who has unlimited potential. Of course he will never be as great as I am, but he will approach a level near to the one I am on.

"When I first met him, I saw a great many places where he could improve his style. He has the raw strength and ability to be a great grappler, but he did not know how to apply his knowledge. He was a quick learner and an excellent student."

Steve enjoys showing people his home almost as much as he likes to batter his foe unconscious!

Steve trains for several hours a day, even when he is not slated for a bout. However, he does not spend all his time working out in the gym with Graham or other trainers. He can often be found entertaining a variety of friends in his luxurious bachelor apartment, which has an extensive wine collection, a highly complex and expensive stereo system, and furniture bought at stores in the various places he has traveled around the world.

In any case, Steve Strong has gone a long way since his experience in the seedy New Orleans tavern. He no longer has to worry about drunks who have had too much or sailors who cannot control themselves on shore leave. Now he improves his body daily, and watches as his legion of fans grow larger.

But still the nightmare exists, for reasons Steve cannot understand. Still there is that one drunk thug who haunts his dream—the man he did not beat. And therein lies his ultimate goal.

Steve feels he will defeat his nightmare only when he is proclaimed by the world as the greatest wrestler of all time. Then the nightmare will vanish. There will be no man he cannot defeat. The terrible nightmare will then give way to a fulfilled dream. □ my method of DYNAMIC-TENSION starts giving you results you can feel and your friends will notice. Big, useful muscles. Gain pounds in weight where needed.

AN ATLAS BODY — In 7 DAYS

Lose "pot belly." Take a good honest look at yourself! Are you proud of your body — or are you satisfied to go through life being just "half the man" you could be? No matter how ashamed you are of your present physical condition — or how old or young you are — the "sleeping" muscles already present in your body can turn you into a REAL man! Believe me, I know — because I was once a skinny, scrawny 97-pound half-alive weakling! People used to laugh at my build and make fun of me. I was ashamed to strip for sports or the beach . . . shy of girls . . . afraid of healthy competition.

HOW I CHANGED FROM A "MOUSE" TO A MAN!

One day, I discovered a secret that changed me from a timid, frightened scarecrow into "The World's Most Perfectly Developed Man" — a "magic formula" that can help turn you, too, into a marvellous physical specimen . . . a REAL man from head to toe . . . a man who STANDS OUT in any crowd! What's my secret? "DYNAMIC-TENSION" — the natural method! No theory. No gadgets or contraptions. You just do as I did. Simply take the "sleeping" muscles already present inside your own body — build them up — use them every day in walking, bending over, reaching, even sitting! Almost before you know it, you're covered with a brand-new suit of beautiful, rock-hard SOLID MUSCLE!

MY SECRET BUILDS MUSCLES FAST!

Just 15 minutes each day in the privacy of your room is all it takes to make your chest and shoulder muscles swell so big they almost split your coat seams . . . turn your fists into sledge-hammers . . . build mighty legs that never tire!
